

Asher Lau Ka-yan, 14, Tin Shui Wai Methodist College

Obviously food delivery services are a great idea. I don't see any reason for schools to disagree. Some students go out at lunchtime, but if they were allowed to use food delivery services, they wouldn't have to leave school. Also, this would mean students have more choice, and they wouldn't have to always eat the same old food from the school canteen. So, why not?

(Source: South China Morning Post, February 28, 2018)